HILLSTROM IS SHOT TO DEATH

I. W. W. Poet Executed at Salt Lake City--President's Request of Reprieve Denied

(Special to The Herald)

Salt Lake City, Nov. 19.—Joseph Hillstrom, the I. W. W. poet, convicted of the murder of J. G. Morrison and the latter's friend Alley, was shot to death at 7:41 this morning. After efforts by President Wilson to secure a reprieve had failed and after the State Board of Pardons decided that the eleven-hour evidence was not sufficient grounds for a reprieve, Hillstrom went to his death before a squad of five expert riflemen in a state of almost total collapse. He started to the chair in which he was to receive the volley of his execution. His head dropped as he was strapped in. At his request he was not blindfolded. Sheriff Corliss having granted the request sent to him shortly after he had eaten his breakfast. At 7:41 the signal was given to the riflemen, each of whom had been paid $10 for his work. As the volley rang out Hillstrom dropped forward against the straps that held him. He was officially pronounced dead in one minute and twelve seconds. After the execution the board of pardons stated that the telegram from Seattle was only to delay the execution. The message was to the effect that a man named Dusty had signed an affidavit that he would offer an alibi for Hillstrom.

Four of the five shots fired at Hillstrom pierced the target that was placed over his heart.

It became known after the execution that Hillstrom had resisted when the sheriff went to his cell to take him to the place of execution. He was asked if he wanted to see a minister, and he shouted: "No! All of you get away from here!"

PERMANENT GUARD APPOINTED

Twenty Men Will Be on Duty at Munition Plant—In- creasing Activity.

The permanent guard at the New England Steel and Ordnance Company at Freeman's Point has been reorganized and is now completed. There are twenty men, ten of whom do night work and the remainder day work. They will be in charge of Arthur T. Harvey, who was the former engineer and watchman at the plant.

The men have all been approved by the police department, and while only a few are special police, they do not require police powers as they are on private property.

The street department will begin work tomorrow on Cutts street, and this new busy thoroughfare will be placed in good condition for travel. At the present time it is in bad shape and with the great amount of teaming into the plant a better road is needed.

At the plant there is evidence of increasing activity each day and the big gang of men are kept on the jump. As the officials complete the plans for the new buildings, and as the contracts are let, there will be additional men added, and all the brick masons and carpenters available will be taken.

The local trades cannot furnish enough and hundreds will be brought here. Already there is an increasing demand being made for boarding places.

MRS. BURNS' COLLAPSE ADJOURNS COURT

Came When Brother-in-Law Was On the Stand--Taken From the Court Room --Defense Opens With Witnesses

At 12:25 the trial came to a sudden interruption by Mrs. Burns, the defendant, going into a severe fit. She was carried from the room by Deputy Sheriff Wilbur B. Shaw and Dr. A. W. Mitchell, in a rigid condition, breathing stertorously and purple in the face.

Chief Justice Pike ordered a recess taken until 1:45 when the resumption of the trial will depend on Mrs. Burns' condition.

When court opened on Friday morning, Col. Bartlett resumed his opening for the defense and told of the coming of Mrs. Burns to the home of her sister, Mrs. Fred Gove and how there was a marked change in her appearance and that on one occasion Mr. Gove knocked a bottle of laudanum out of her hand that she was about to take. She had spells that frequently she would talk to herself and out of a clear sky would jump up and laughing something. On one day Mr. Burns went to Raymond she jumped up and said: "I wonder if he will see a woman down there today."

Mr. Gove and his wife will both say that they frequently got liquor for Burns and on nearly all occasions the money for the same was furnished by his wife. They have known his wife also to purchase liquor for him. He was a steady drinker. She was silly over him and over generous with her money, which was fast being used up. They would sometimes find her wandering around by the middle of the night. She would frequently allude to her poor health and her sister who committed suicide.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Gove will say that Mary was extremely jealous. They never heard anything from her in the nature of a threat or profanity.

The defense would show that the defendant's mother, after the father's suicide was found nearly strangled, having wound something tightly about her neck. Defendant was extremely forgetful.

Counsel said one witness called by the state, Cora Morrison had not been put on the stand, and the defense intended to put her on.

A certain letter had been written by the defendant which the defense would demand.

Ex-County Collector, Ernest L. Guphill, special counsel for the state, objected to these remarks and the judge ruled that they were improper at that time.

The letter was produced and the defendant's counsel was allowed to read it. It was written by Mrs. Burns. One line of it was: "I had just as soon die as live like this."

Col. Bartlett.

He detailed at length her movements at Laconia and the open manner in which she attempted to purchase the cyanide of potassium, and her movements leading up to her arrival at Nottingham.

On Sunday morning when Mr. Burns had gone to do the chores, she thinking that she would do as her sister had done, mixed the poison with the gin which she had purchased at Laconia. After doing this, she sat down at the head of the bed and was enjoying a good cry when Burns came in. He said: "Now little girl, what have you got another bad spell? Cheer up." He soothed and cheered her up.

On Monday he asked her if she wouldn't get her some whiskey or gin. She sent for the liquor by Phummer Demeritt from Cora Morrison's house. She telephoned to Webb and he came down and got the liquor for her husband.

There was no trouble between them that night.

On Tuesday morning he awoke, kissed her and got out of bed about 4:30 o'clock. She has the impression that he went to the door, drank, and threw the bottle out of the door. The first thing that aroused her was when he sat down on the bed and said: "Mary, I am so sick." She rushed out and called the Walkers. She says she cannot remember what she said or did. The thought of the poison in the bottle did not occur to her until after the doctor had been at the house the second time.

When she went to her bag to put back a $5 bill that was lying on the table, she found the bottle containing the gin and poison was gone.

We do not know where the bottle which contained the cyanide of potassium is, perhaps the state may know.

The first witness called for the defense was Fred L. Gove of Nottingham, brother-in-law of the accused. He testified that he was friendly with all of the Davis family, with the exception of Myra Demeritt. "I first met Mr. Burns in the spring of 1912. He and Mrs. Burns came to our house as man and wife. I did not know to the contrary until after he died."

I helped her get a job at Roy Webb's. Burns drank steadily every day, if he could get the liquor but I never saw him intoxicated. Burns had a quiet and pleasant disposition. He was a fine man to talk with. I have heard him complain about his back troubling him.

The relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Burns were very friendly. She would sit in his lap and caress him. She would kiss him in the presence of my wife and myself. We thought her rather soft. This would occur practically every evening and when he went away she would kiss him. She would put her arms around his neck and he would straighten up and raise her from the floor. He was tall and muscular. They went to the Webb house on August 14. I have heard Mary say "She did not care whether she lived or died."

At Laconia Mary appeared quite melancholy. She was in one of her blue spells. We came back on Thursday and left her there. She came to the depot with my wife.

On the morning of Mr. Burns' death she was sobbing and those and I tried to comfort her. I was there when Dr. Knowlton came in the afternoon. Her answers to his questions were very short as a rule. She seemed to be in a dazed condition. When we left between 5 and 6 that evening Mary went with us.

At the funeral Mary appeared very down hearted and cried. After the funeral she picked up what few things she had and went home with us. She was very melancholy and appeared to be out of her mind up to the time of her arrest. I think she was insane at times. The Sunday following the funeral I was at home when the officers came to arrest her. She did not talk much and only made short answers to the officers' questions.

My wife asked Mary if she intended to commit suicide, and she replied that she did not tell them that Burns intended to, but she had planned to herself.

A little later in the day the sheriff came and arrested Mrs. Burns. I was

SERBIA IS BEING SLOWLY CRUSHED

Austrian, German and Bulgar Armies Closing in Upon Her Defenders—Allied Armies Too Small to Hold Them in Check..

London, Nov. 18.—The Austrians, Germans and Bulgars, backed by the Turks and by the threats of Greece and Roumania, have succeeded in conquering the greater part of Serbia. Germans and Austrians advancing from the north and west and Bulgarians operating from the east are slowly but surely hammering or turning the Serbians out of their positions, and unless the Allies can get large reinforcements, to their assistance Serbia will be overwhelmed. Whether the eleventh-hour attempt to coerce Greece into "friendly" neutrality will succeed is uncertain. The Serbian armies, with insufficient ammunition and inferior numbers, have been retreating vainly to meet the wide turning movement of the Bulgarians, threatening Prilep and Monastir. Some despatches from Athens report that Prilep already is in Bulgarian hands. News that the Bulgarian advance southward is proceeding rapidly and has reached a point within a few hours of Monastir is said to have caused consternation in that city, whose population is fleeing to Greek territory. Not only has the Bulgarian manoeuvre been assisted by the desertion of the Serbians of their positions at Babuna Pass, but the Serbian forces, which have been holding this entire region are now in peril of being surrounded and cut off by the Bulgarians advancing southward from Krushevo. Little is known of the Serbian situation in the north, except that determined resistance is still being offered by the Serbians against both Germans and Bulgarians, who have made no fresh gains of consequence. In southwestern Serbia successes for the French and British are reported. The Bulgarians are said to have been compelled to retreat on the Vardar front and to have sustained a check at the hands of the British in the Hahovo action.

Confirms Loss of Prilep
London, Nov. 18.—Confirmation has been received at Salonica of the report that the Bulgarians have entered Prilep after a junction with the Bulgarian army coming from Tetovo, according to Athens despatches. The Serbians forced back by the Bulgarian advance have retreated to Odrina, about forty-five miles southwest of Prilep, on the Albanian frontier. The Bulgarians, who are now only a short distance from Monastir, are making a turning movement under command of German officers. The situation at Monastir is reported to be most critical. The foreign consuls, except the French, have gone to Salonica, to which place the prefect of Monastir has sent the city's archives. The civil population of Monastir is reported to be panic-stricken, and preparations are being made to evacuate the town. The prefect of Monastir called a meeting of the representatives of the Serbians, Greek, Bulgarian and Turkish communities and advised them in the event of the Bulgarians approaching the city to go out and meet the Bulgarian commander and tender to him their submission, in order to save the inhabitants from ill-treatment at the hands of the enemy.

After sixteen days of furious Bulgarian attacks, which were heroically sustained by the Serbians, the Bulgarians took Babuna Pass. The last two Serbian regiments which still resisted were confronted by 50,000 Bulgarians. From Babuna Pass the Bulgarians marched on Prilep (Perlepe).

WILL GUARD THE NASHUA MILLS Two Hundred Specials From Boston Will Be On Duty.

Nashua, Nov. 18.—Former Superintendent of Police William B. Watts of the Boston police force was in the city today. It is stated on good authority that he will qualify as head of the extra police on guard at the Nashua and Jackson mills when the are reopened Monday. Trouble is possible from those who do not return and fully 200 extra police will be on duty. Many of them will be from Boston and former Superintendent Watts is to have charge of them, according to what can be learned.

Most of the 200 guards will be from out of the city, and it is the intention to force order from the first if possible. It is understood that the mills are taking the precaution in addition to the militia on guard and the Nashua police force.

Today, circulars printed in the Polish language have been circulated among the Polish and Lithuanian employees telling of the opening of the mills on Monday.

EXETER STUDENTS CHECK FIRE IN DORMITORY

Students at Phillips Exeter Academy turned fire fighters last night when a blaze was discovered in a room in South hall, a dormitory. They managed to keep the flames from spreading until the town fire department arrived and put out the fire with chemicals. The blaze started in the room occupied by Norcross Teale of West Medford, Mass., and John Dodge of Minneapolis, Minn., from an unknown cause. All the clothing and furnishings in the apartment were destroyed.

BIGGEST BATTLE SHIPS AFLOAT

Will Be Built Under New Building Program—Will Carry 16-in. Guns.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Tentative plans are being considered, Secretary Daniels said today for two 36,000 ton battleships to be included in the first year's part of the five-year building program, which Congress will be asked to approve.

32,000 Tons Is Record

There are no larger warships afloat anywhere in the world now and the biggest ever designed for the American navy are the 32,000 ton craft of the California class, two of which were authorized last year and bids for which have just been received.

Part of the increased displacement in the newest ships will be due to the changed hull construction to provide additional torpedo defense bulkheads. While the general characteristics of the ships have not been disclosed, it is probable they will have increased armament and speed. The navy has developed a 15-inch rifle of which no use has yet been made, and the new ships may carry ten or more of these if developments of the European war indicate the mounting of them. The largest guns now afloat are the 16-inch guns of European navies, which the 11-inch American rifle is said to equal for all practical purposes.

Maximum speed of American battleships now built or authorized is less than 21 knots, although European first line ships go considerably above that. It is considered probable that a speed of perhaps 25 knots will be sought hereafter.

Secretary Daniels has received no report as yet on the examination of private bids received yesterday for battleships 43 and 44 all of which appeared to be above the limit fixed by Congress. It is understood however, that a careful analysis of the exceptions to advertised specifications bears out the indications that private builders will not attempt to construct the hulls and machinery of the ships within the $7,800,000 limit.

Neither ship can be laid down before next summer. It is said for lack of structural steel, the war having swept the American steel market clean. Secretary Daniels showed considerable concern today over this fact. He indicated that unless some arrangements could be made with steel plants to insure preference for government orders Congress might be asked to act. An embargo on exportation of steel until the government's wants are supplied has been suggested.

Mr. Daniels said the armor bids for the new ships showed that American-made armor was not in such great demand abroad as structural steel since there was no increase in price over a year ago or any delay in delivery suggested. He will again urge Congress to authorize construction of a government armor plant and will also seek appropriations to fit the Philadelphia and Mare Island yards for battleship building. He said today he believed the government should be equipped to do all the work necessary on a battleship even to rolling the steel should an emergency arise. Such a plant, he declared, though it should "never heat a pound of metal," would have a salutary effect in fixing prices for new ships to be privately built.

lying on the bed in the bed room at the time she asked to change her dress and came into the bed room. She wrote an order for her money in the bank at Concord and my wife sent the letter the following day.

At this point court was adjourned owing to the sudden illness of Mrs. Burns, the defendant.

Mrs. Mary Augusta Burns, respondent in the murder suit brought by the state against her, charging her with causing the death of her husband, Frank Burns at Nottingham last December, will be put on the stand by Col. John H. Bartlett, her senior counsel. This was announced yesterday afternoon by Mr. Bartlett as he made his opening address to the jury after the state rested at 4:00 o'clock. In his opening address Col. Bartlett stated that they intended to prove that Mrs. Burns was an innocent woman although that was unnecessary in order to gain an acquittal as the state must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that she was guilty if she is to be held.

The resting of the state's case came as a surprise to many in the court as it was not thought that their case would be concluded until some time today. During the afternoon Mrs. Burns seemed less cheerful than on the preceding days, the constant strain under which she has been held gradually telling on her. She sat most of the afternoon resting her head on her hand and occasionally closing her eyes. There was nothing about her attitude which indicated any loss of hope. She simply seemed like a woman who was over tired. She sat quietly while Col. Bartlett was making his opening to the jury and appeared to take little interest in the afternoon's proceedings.

At the reopening of the court after the noon recess Mrs. Neal was recalled for a few moments but little vital testimony was introduced. The first new witness called was Thomas F. Dodge, turnkey of the County Jail, who testified mainly to the conduct of Mrs. Burns before and after her confinement in the state hospital at Concord. He stated that he had seen her often during her stay at the jail and that she often expressed a desire to talk to him as she was lonely. He said that he was a frequent visitor with her in the early evening when she would talk about general topics. He told of the bad spell she had on Nov. 1 when he found her in the floor of her cell as he took her evening meal to her. He testified to calling Mrs. Shaw to her and the visit of Dr. Taylor. He said that she was lying on her right side and was frothing at the mouth and that he assisted in lifting her onto the bed before the doctor came. In his opinion, he said, Mrs. Burns appeared sane. He was cross-examined by Col. Bartlett but nothing vital was gained.

He was followed by Mrs. Alice B. Shaw, matron of the jail, and her testimony was nearly identical to that of Mr. Dodge with the exception that she stated while being cross-examined that Mrs. Burns was subject to twitchings of her muscles and that her face at times twitched involuntarily. Mrs. Shaw also stated that she would consider Mrs. Burns was sane.

Wilbur B. Shaw, deputy sheriff testified to nearly the same facts as did Mr. Dodge and Mrs. Shaw. He said that he was obliged at times to administer a bromide to Mrs. Burns under the doctor's orders so that she could sleep. He said that in his opinion Mrs. Burns was sane. In his cross-examination Col. Bartlett asked why he now felt competent to say she was sane when a few weeks ago he stated that he didn't feel as though he could judge the matter. He said that he didn't judge the matter now, but that it was simply his opinion that she was sane. He said that Mrs. Burns was in better physical condition after her return from Concord and before she went away.

Louis P. Elkins, clerk of the New Hampshire National Bank at Concord was called by the state. He stated that on Dec. 29, 1914 the bank received an order from Nottingham for the withdrawal of all funds in the account of Mary A. Allen, to be sent by express to her at Nottingham, in care of Mrs. Fred Gove. He said that $100 in currency and a draft on a Boston bank for $34.15 was sent by American Express to her in the afternoon. He said that the certified check on the Boston bank was returned after being paid, endorsed by Mary A. Allen, Wilbur B. Shaw and the National Shawmut Bank Boston, the bank endorsement being dated Jan. 3, 1915.

He was cross-examined to some extent by Col. Bartlett regarding other transactions made in the account and was asked in at several times that account was closed and the same check re-deposited without being cashed. Mr. Elkins stated that on July 11, 1911 the account of Mary Allen was closed, she withdrawing $1194.75 and re-depositing the same check with $5.00 more on July 22, eleven days later. That on Feb. 11, 1913 she withdrew all the funds, $1144.27, that on Feb. 26 of the same year she re-deposited the same check and took currency amounting to $1144.27 so that the new account was opened with $1000 even. This was the only occasion that the original check was re-deposited. He stated that not more than half a dozen big transactions had been made in the account in the last few years and that no other large amounts had been withdrawn. He admitted that she had lost interest in banking those two withdrawals.

lent by Col. Bartlett regarding other transactions made in the account and was asked in at several times that account was closed and the same check re-deposited without being cashed. Mr. Elkins stated that on July 11, 1911 the account of Mary Allen was closed, she withdrawing $1194.75 and re-depositing the same check with $5.00 more on July 22, eleven days later. That on Feb. 11, 1913 she withdrew all the funds, $1144.27, that on Feb. 26 of the same year she re-deposited the same check and took currency amounting to $1144.27 so that the new account was opened with $1000 even. He stated that not more than half a dozen big transactions had been made in the account in the last few years and that no other large amounts had been withdrawn. He admitted that she had lost interest in banking those two withdrawals.

Ralph H. Sanborn, American Express agent at Raymond testified that the package from the bank came to his office on Dec. 30, 1914, that as it was not claimed that day he returned it to Concord and that on Dec. 31 it was returned to him and given to Mrs. Burns who was identified by Mr. Shaw at Raymond. He was asked by Mr. Bartlett if that was the day which Mrs. Burns was arraigned at Raymond and he said that he didn't know at the time that she was under arrest or that she had been arraigned in Judge Bartlett's office.

Lewis DeMerritt, husband of Elma DeMerritt, who testified on Wednesday was called. He stated that he and Mary were always friendly while the Burns were living with them although he had heard them using loud language in the evening in their own room and that Mrs. Burns frequently used wrong names and profane language to Mr. Burns. He said that she appeared very jealous of Burns.

Burns First Wife Called
Corra Burns, of Woodsville, N. H., was called by the state and testified that she had been married to Burns on Nov. 29, 1900. She said that they had lived together at Woodsville until July, 1912, when he told her that he didn't care for her any more and he left her. She said that Burns deserted her on July 19, that he paid her board for a time, the last time he did that being on Sept. 2, 1912, which was also the last time that she had seen him. Mrs. Corra Burns identified a photograph as that of her husband, Frank Burns. She said that Burns and she had never been divorced. She said that she had heard that he was going with a Mary Allen in Concord, that she wrote a letter to Mary Allen and that she didn't get it back.

At this point Col. Bartlett offered objections but they were not sustained and the court ruled that the letter might be mentioned if used only to prove that Mrs. Burns No. 2 knew that Burns was a married man. As the letter could not be introduced Mrs. Burns stated that the following was what she remembered as writing:

"I said that I had heard that she and my husband were very friendly and had been seen in each other's company a good deal and that I didn't like it very well. I told her that I wished that she would please let my husband alone and not make any further trouble between us as he was my husband and I wanted to live with him. I said that I didn't think it was right for her or anyone else to make trouble between a man and his wife."

She said that she had stamped this letter, that it had her return address on the envelope and that it was posted by her. She said that she received the following, postmarked as received at Woodsville on July 31, 1912 at 7:00 a. m. "Mary is all right, and no thanks to you, either." It was not signed but was in the hand writing of Frank Burns.

In his cross-examination Mr. Bartlett asked if Burns had been insured and had she received any insurance? She said no and that she didn't know that he was insured.

Q—Did he have any property? A—No, not that I know of.

Q—He had no assets that you know of? A—No.

Q—Did you pay his funeral expenses? A—No.

Q—Were you aware that Mary Burns paid them? A—I understood that she did.

Sheriff Ceylon Spinney, the last of the state's witnesses, was called by Attorney General Tuttle. He testified that he had called to see Mrs. Burns on Sunday morning, Dec. 27, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Fred Gove, Nottingham, in company with County Solicitor Gupill. He stated that they had met Mrs. Burns and that they talked together for some time. That Mrs. Burns, after they had introduced themselves as the County Solicitor and the Sheriff, and that Mrs. Burns, after Mr. Gupill had stated the reports from Professor Whitney to her, had said, "I don't know where he got it" in reference to the cyanide of potassium. He said that Mrs. Burns spoke of her husband's intimacy with other women, that she had overheard him telling Roy Webb that he was intimate with Ella Clark. He said that Mrs. Burns said nothing to them about any suicide theory. He said that she was again asked to explain how he obtained the potassium cyanide, and that she repeated that she didn't know where he got it.

Mr. Spinney stated that Mrs. Burns described their conduct on Monday evening, that their relations were friendly and that she was the first to awake on Tuesday morning. That Burns finally awoke and told her that he didn't feel well, and wished that he didn't have to go to work. That he got partially dressed and went across to the table, took a drink out of a bottle from which he had drank the night before and that she told him not to leave the bottle in the room. That he finished the bottle and threw it out of the window. She told them of her life with Burns, of their marriage and living in Worcester and Nicholburg, that he had been intimate with women in those cities and that at one time she had found a woman with him in the engine room of the mill where he was working. She said that he drank a great deal and that he used all his money and all she would give him of hers for drink.

Cross Examined for Nearly an Hour

For almost an hour Col. Bartlett put Sheriff Spinney through a grilling cross-examination. Mr. Bartlett asked about the note written to the bank by Mrs. Burns for the money.

Q—Didn't the state use as evidence that she had written for the money to use so that she could flee?

A—I don't know what idea the state had about it. I didn't know when the letter was written.

Q—Did you ask "leading questions" of her during the interview?

A—No.

Q—Did you make a search over the shed for any bottle at the Walker place?

A—No. I didn't make much of a search.

Q—Do you think that when Mrs. Burns told of hearing Burns and Webb talking about Ella Clark she really heard them and that it might be the voices which she occasionally imagined she heard?

A—I thought that she heard the talk. I didn't know nothing about her hearing imaginary voices.

Mr. Bartlett asked if it wasn't true that during the confinement of Mrs. Burns in the jail that Sheriff Spinney didn't attempt to get information from her about the case and this was denied. All that he ever did in that line was one day when going through her trunk and a box of powder was found he had gone to her and asked her what it was and had been told that it was starch. He said that at the time he thought it might have been cyanide as he had never seen any.

At the close of Mr. Spinney's testimony he stated that he believed that Mrs. Burns was sane.

Mr. Gupill recalled Mrs. Corra Burns to ask if she had put a stamp on the letter sent to Mary Allen and she answered in the affirmative. The state rested.

Opening of Defense

Col. Bartlett at 4:00 opened his case with an address to the jury he said that he intended to prove that Mrs. Burns was innocent, that he would put her on the stand, that she would make her life bare to them, that they would prove that she was an honest woman with a life as open as an open book.

Mr. Bartlett's address to the jury occupied the remaining three quarters of an hour and he stated that he would finish it in the morning. In his address he said that they would give the story of Mrs. Burns' life from the time of her birth to the present day, the strain under which she had lived, the hard work she had done, her married life with Allen, the picture of her father hanging in the barn and her sister's poisoning herself bearing down on her mind continually, resulting in her mental and physical break down.

He said that he would show that Myra was at odds with all of the members of the family, that she attempted to prevent the others from going to Mary in her trouble, and that she was a trouble maker always.

That Mary was insane to the extent that she wanted to commit suicide, that Burns prevented it one time when he struck down her hand as she was going to drink laudanum. That through Dr. Mitchell he would prove that her health was such that she was at times insane.

Court recessed until 10:00 o'clock this morning when the case for the defense will go on after Mr. Bartlett concludes his opening.

YACHT CLUB ENTERTAINED WITH DINNER

VAUDEVILLE ENTERTAINMENT AND "BAKE" SERVED MEM-BERS AND GUESTS AT PORTS-
MOUTH YACHT CLUB
HOUSE LAST EVENING

Good fellows, good fellowship, good feeling, good eats, good entertainment and a good time was the order of things at the bake given by the Portsmouth Yacht Club at the club last evening with about 100 members and guests present. The Portsmouth Yacht Club, like all of the social orders in the city, have the faculty of making one of them while inside their doors and last evening was no exception. Early in the evening the guests were seated and a great bake, prepared by the club steward was served consisting of the following menu:

Steamed Clams Baked Corn
Baked sweet potatoes Baked Lobsters
Live Baked Lobsters
Crackers - Rolls - Cigars - Coffee

At the close of the dinner Commodore Luke Ashworth introduced Winfield Thompson of the Boston Globe Staff, as a man who had written a great many yachting stories. Mr. Thompson thanked the club for his evening and the royal way he had been entertained and told several interesting yachting stories, connecting the local club in a way that was humorous as well as complimentary.

The entertainment committee had secured for the evening some high class talent and their work was appreciated by the guests. Miss Theresa Rose of Boston performed three excellent violin solos including "Intermezzo from Cavaleria Rusticana" and a cello solo while Miss Mable Killen sang several selections which were well received. Sylvester and Vance, the double vaudeville team playing at the Colonial Theatre were included in the evening's entertainment and presented their comedy skit, "Get out of my Theatre." It is safe to say that this team never played to a more appreciative audience than the one at the club. All of the numbers of the entertainment were heartily applauded and it was well merited applause which was given.

Among the guests of the evening were Ex-Mayor Wallace Hackett, John C. McDonough, Winfield Thompson of the Boston Globe, Thomas Phenon of the Boston American, and Thomas Killian of the Boston Post. As no Yacht Club party would be a success without the assistance of the "Quarrier Deck Trio," and the Forecastle Quartet they were there all the evening, presenting several new numbers in both the singing and dancing line. There was a great mystery introduced which the officers of the club are tracking down. A big jet black pig injected himself into the entertainment. To say that he was a sensation and a success would be putting it mildly. The evening was one of the most successful that the famous club has held in many months.

The evening was in the hands of this committee, Commodore Luke Ashworth, chairman; Robert J. Boyd, Jackson M. Washburn, Leon Weaver and George Wassar as the committee on entertainment, assisted by Secretary Charles Hatch, Charles Smith and K. Plink, in charge of the bake.

Savings Bank Anniversary.

Of widespread interest should be the plan to have a thrift campaign in this country next year, closing with a celebration in New York city to mark the 100th anniversary of the founding of the first savings bank in the United States and the world. This celebration will be held under the leadership of the savings bank section of the American Bankers' Association and will be an event to call attention strongly to the value of savings banks and the benefits accruing from the habit of saving.

The first savings bank was established in Massachusetts in 1816 and its advantages were speedily recognized. By 1834 there were 22 such banks in the state, while today there are 193, with more than 2,000,000 depositors having to their credit deposits aggregating more than $899,000,000. And there has been a corresponding increase and growth of savings banks in all the states, Massachusetts by no means having a monopoly of these invaluable institutions.

For people of small means the savings bank is one of the greatest and best institutions in the world. It is as nearly absolutely safe as it is possible for any human institution to be, and while the rate of interest paid is not large, the interest is frequently added to the principal and the depositors get the benefit of what is known as compound interest, with the result that a deposit untouched for a number of years makes a growth that is pleasantly surprising when it is figured up.

What may be called the savings bank habit is very common in the United States, but it should be even more general than it is. The savings bank affords one of the very best means for the practice of thrift, something which should be practiced by all having their own way to make in the world. The proverbial rainy day—the time when one will be unable to earn—is ahead of all who are dependent upon their own exertions and who live to be old, and when that time comes a snug savings bank deposit will be found the best friend one can have in the time of need.

It is to be hoped the thrift campaign and savings bank anniversary next year may serve to call attention afresh to the propriety and value of the saving habit, which, once formed, will prove very helpful and beneficial to every man, woman and child that acquires the habit of laying something aside for future needs.

Few men win such tributes as are being paid by press and people to Booker T. Washington, whose death was reported last Monday. For many years he had been the head of Tuskegee Institute and the leader of the colored race in this country. His rise from slavery to such usefulness and eminence was a remarkable achievement, and his name is one that will live in American history.

There was an unseemly incident in a New York church on a recent Sunday morning. While Gifford Pinchot was telling an audience of the atrocity of the Germans an American of German parentage stood up and called him a liar. Both men were out of order. The pulpit is not the proper place for the partisan discussion of war matters, and if this incident teaches that lesson it will not have been valueless.

The head of the New York street cleaning department believes in preparedness and is already enlisting an army of men for snow shoveling next winter. A big snow storm means business in New York city and also heavy cost, the shovelers being paid $2.40 for eight hours' work.

How long can the fighting nations keep it up? It is said that the cost of the war to England alone is now more than $21,000,000 a day, and the cost to the other countries must be proportionately great. Well-might there be asked the old question, "Is the game worth the candle?"

Burglars entered a parsonage in Hartford, Conn., a few nights ago while the minister and his family were away and secured a lot of valuables, but left unmolested a newly written sermon, the text of which was "Thou shalt not steal."

The Russian government is opening 3,000 savings banks in connection with the postoffices. Perhaps this is to give the people a chance to deposit what they have saved since the prohibition of the sale of vodka.

There are 25,000 children in Cleveland, O., who have nothing against John D. Rockefeller. He took them to a flower show in that city a few days ago and they had the time of their lives.

CURRENT OPINION

Co-Educational Training Teaches Respect for Opposite Sex.

I consider co-educational training best for both boys and girls. They are at the age when they can best be trained to reserve, self control, respect for opposite sex, by being together. Monastic training simply stores impulses under abnormal conditions for release under extra stimuli when the school period is over, which I think disastrous to both sexes. Therefore they should be kept together and normally grown up in families. Providence has indicated this by putting them together in families.

With reference to military training, there are some advantages to be derived, physically and mentally, which, of course, ought not to be underrated, but military training fosters an ideal which should not be fostered in any boy's mind.

The true spiritual idea of human brotherhood, which every boy should have fostered in his mind, cannot be fostered successfully in a military school, least of all at that period of his life when he is in secondary schools.—By William H. Black, President Missouri Valley College.

Washington, Nov. 19.—The plan of Secretary of the Navy Daniels to erect an armor plate factory with the $4,000,000 appropriated by Congress in 1907, was checked today when the Comptroller of the Treasury handed down a ruling that the money was not available. He said that the appropriation was made if armor plate could not be purchased in the open market. The armor plate was purchased and the appropriation lapsed.

Old Serbia Taken and Fall of Monastir Claimed.

(Special to The Herald)
London, Nov. 18.—Among the developments in the Balkans today stood out the reported capture of Raska by the Austro-German troops, thus completing the total occupation of Old Serbia. The fall of Monastir into the hands of the Bulgarians is unofficially reported from Salonica. Fresh threats against Greece by the Entente Powers and the report that they will demand that Greece demobilize are the principal features. Claims coming from Berlin that the Greek-Bulgarian pact is being made, is not helping the situation.

He said that the woman stated on the day of her arrest that she wished she could go direct to the electric chair.

BILL PASSED BY LEGISLATIVE TRICK

Charge of Senator Gallinger on the Seaman's Bill.

Washington, Nov. 18.—A letter to a newspaper from Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire, the minority leader in the senate, in which he says that the seaman's bill was passed that body by a legislative trick and that certain senators voted for it on the supposed assurance that the President would veto it, caused great indignation at the White House today. Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the President, was furious and declared that everyone knew that the President did not lie.

The general opinion here is that except in regard to the assurances, about which Senator Gallinger confessed he had no definite information, the main point of Senator Gallinger's letter is underlined by the Congressional Record's account of the proceedings. The bill was passed in the absence of senators prominent in opposing the measure, who were under the apprehension, Senator Gallinger states, a vote was not imminent, but this procedure while violating a cherished tradition of senatorial courtesy, is not without precedent.

In almost identically the same way the Republican leaders put through the Vreeland-Aldrich currency bill in 1908. LaFollette of Wisconsin, Stone of Missouri and Gore of Oklahoma made a desperate filibuster against that measure. LaFollette broke all records by speaking over 18 hours consecutively against it. Stone spoke seven hours, then retired for a nap while Gore held the floor. It was understood that Stone would return late that afternoon and speak again, but Gore, who is blind, could not see the clock, miscalculated the time and sat down before Gore returned. The vote was forced and the bill was passed.

In the case of the seaman's bill, the procedure was not as sharp as this. Stone of Missouri was on the floor and protested that time should be given for a reply to LaFollette. But instead of talking against time till the absence returned, he sat down after making his protest and the vote was taken.

Those who recall the circumstances of the seaman's act are convinced that the President was making no particular effort in his behalf and that he would have been relieved of an embarrassing duty if it had failed. The bill remained in his hands almost the full constitutional ten days before he signed it and there were times when it seemed doubtful that it would ever get his signature.

During this period Andrew J. Furuseth, legislative representative of the Seamen's Union, who had worked for the bill nearly twenty years, was despondent and said that he did not know whether the President would sign it or not, though he had presented arguments favoring the bill at the White House.

The acquittal of these men, said the secretary, excused them from negligence, the toleration of which cast a serious reflection on all the rest of the service.

Because each of the members of the court-martial signed the report of acquittal, though the secretary "feels that their action in the case of Lieut. Onkes at least, really was by a vote of 3 to 2," he will recommend a change in the present navy custom so that hereafter the individual vote of each member of the court will be recorded.

Father Reany, U. S. N., is Dead

The Rev. Father William Henry Ironsides Reany, chaplain in the U. S. N. who was with Admiral Dewey in the battle of Manila Bay, died in a hospital here tonight of acute stomach trouble. Father Reany held the rank of captain, the highest obtainable by a naval chaplain. He was born in 1863, when his father was commander of the old battleship Ironsides. At the request of the crew his father included Ironsides in his name. Father Reany was appointed chaplain in 1892, and had been stationed at the Brooklyn navy yard for several years. ## AN HISTORICAL LANTERN

Used on Old Frigate Constitution Presented to the Yacht Club.

The Portsmouth Yacht Club is gradually accumulating a fine collection of historical articles associated with the early history of shipping in this city and one of the most valuable additions for a long time, was made Thursday evening when Dr. W. O. Jenkins presented the club with a ship's lantern, taken from the old frigate Constitution.

The lantern, probably made at this yard, is of copper and the light was from whale oil, the lamp itself being fitted with two wicks. It was probably a gangway light as the back indicates. The lantern belonged originally to an old resident of Kittery Point, who's father secured it from the ship and it has been in the family ever since, until presented to Dr. Jenkins who thought there would be no more fitting place for it than the yacht club. The club also has a fine scorched mirror which came from the ward room of the old Constitution.

PORTSMOUTH THEATRE

Friday and Saturday
Our feature picture for these two days will be an interesting 5 part World Film Production called "THE FLASH OF AN EMERALD," featuring Robert Warwick as a social vulture.

The many admirers of this fine actor will have an opportunity of seeing him in a screen part that elicits another, and not often seen, side of his undoubted genius. As Lucius Waldeck he is "a social vulture preying on his friends and diverting suspicion by his gentlemanly graciousness." In other words, he is a polished and insinuating villain. He steals a valuable emerald from a woman. In a religious procession, chloroforms her, her maid and the sick child.

Later he passes himself off as a secret agent of the Russian Revolutionists. He insinuates himself into the good graces of two ladies, to one of whom he presents the emerald. The lady is the daughter of the woman from whom he stole the jewel. Indirectly, this leads to his undoing, and he commits suicide.

The part is a great one and Mr. Warwick does it the fullest justice. There is also a strong love interest in the photodrama which has the advantage of beautiful settings, careful direction and a strong supporting cast "PEABODY FIRE"

You all remember that terrible school fire, well, we have it as a topic in our Mutual Weekly.

"Tillies Big Feet" is a one reel comedy. We have a fine two reel western film also.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday
"Ned of the Navy"—11th episode.

STATE FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Concord Will Meet Local High Here Tomorrow for Title.

The High school football team will play the most important game of the season tomorrow afternoon when they meet the Concord High team for the championship of the state.

Coach Wamander has been drilling the team all this week with special reference to the game and the boys are in fine condition and are playing a fast and hard game.

The Concord team is if anything, a little heavier than the locals and this year have been playing a great game, having defeated about all of the larger High school teams of the state.

No change has been made in the lineup of the local team, but several substitutes will probably be given a chance to get in, as the game promises to be fast, and some of the regulars may not go the whole course.

Here is a show that we think is the best ever. The acts are so well known in the vaudeville world that they hardly need any introduction.

This is the program for today. Quality first, remember. There is something on this bill that will just capture every woman and child in Portsmouth. Look it over.

CLASSY COMEDY AND GOOD MUSIC

COLONIAL THEATRE BILL FOR LAST THREE DAYS ONE OF THE BEST THIS THEATRE HAS OFFERED.

"It couldn't have been better." This was the verdict of every member of the audience which witnessed the show at the Colonial Theatre last evening. For "equality" and real entertainment in vaudeville, the three big acts playing the closing three days at this now popular house, nothing more could be wished for.

The big act, presented by Spencer Kelly and Marion Wilder & Co., giving "melodies, past and present," was one of the acts which are of the highest type of entertainment. It was made up of old time songs, cleverly interwoven, making it a high-quality act. It was beautifully staged and was presented in a manner that couldn't fail to be entertaining. The artists comprising the personnel of the act are: Marion Wilder, soloist; Mr. Kelly, soloist; Charlotte Maloney, violin and vocal soloist; and Reta Ryan, pianist. All four of the entertainers are finished musicians, high class artists, who provided a musical treat seldom offered from the vaudeville stage.

Drawce, Hambro and Frisco Company, the trio number in the bill, proved to be the second of the three entertaining acts. They created hearty outbursts of laughter with their act. "At the Hottentot Hotel," a comedy offering with more real clean fun than one would find in a dozen other vaudeville turns. The act included two real comedians and "Frisco" an intelligent, well trained dog. It included some of the cleverest juggling and boomerang throwing that the patrons of the Portsmouth Theatre have ever had the opportunity of seeing. And the funny situations in the "Grill Room," and about 300 hats being raised in the performance was worth ten times the price of the admission.

Sylvester and Vance, in their comedy singing and talking skit, "Get Out of My Theatre," were a couple of the best performers in this line that we have seen. Their act had something new, bright jokes, good singing and clever repartee. The act comes to Portsmouth direct from Keith's and that it was a success there can be understood after seeing them work here. The program is one that was entertaining to old and young alike, strong and complete, as well as finely balanced.

SHOULD WOMEN VOTE

Subject of Lively Debate at Knights of Columbus Home

The first debate of the Columbus Debating Club of Portsmouth Council was held last evening at the K of C Home on Ballington street at the close of the regular council meeting.

The question at issue was: "Should Woman Be Given the Right to Vote?" Messrs J. J. O'Brien and Leo Shea earnestly argued in the affirmative, and John T. Sheehan and F. J. Kearney opposed vigorously.

The judges were R. A. Kirvan, John Leary and James P. Griffin, who found it very difficult to make a decision but finally gave the award to the negative side. The various points on both sides of the question were well brought out and the two teams were so well matched in their arguments that the final award was decided on the forensic ability of the negative team. At the conclusion of the debate the question was open for discussion by the house and some very interesting arguments were made by the members. The president, Thomas A. Palmer, presided in a very efficient manner, and announced that the next debate of the series would be held on December 12th, the subject to be announced later.

Alexander Noel of this city passed Thursday with relatives in Kittery.

from me; get away or I will kill you." A few minutes later the sheriff came and when the warden opened the door spoke to Hillstrom as he retreated to the back of the cell and the sheriff and deputy sheriff entered the cell he lunged forward and struck the sheriff over the head with a piece of broom stick. He had to be overpowered. Then came the march to the place of execution. Hillstrom collapsed just as he reached the gallows. His last words were: "I die with a clear conscience and my vindication will surely come."

CUTTS STREET TO BE PUT IN GOOD CONDITON

City Council Votes $600 For Street Repair Owing to Need Now That R. B. Phillips Plant is Opening Operations

The sum of $600 for the repairing of Cutts street and the transfer of $500 from the funds to the Public Works Board were the two important transactions completed at the special meeting of the City Council called at the order of the Mayor last evening.

The meeting opened at 8.15 with the following councilmen present: Councilmen Berry, Dowdell, Hett, Northwick, Smart and Liberson.

The following communication from the Mayor was read:

To the Honorable City Council:

Gentlemen:

I have at various times called your attention to certain streets that in my judgment needed repairs.

It is my purpose at this time to call your attention to the poor condition of Cutts street. This street is the only means of access to the plant of the R. B. Phillips Mfg. Company and already has a large amount of travel, which must largely increase as the plant gets into operation, with the materials and supplies being hauled to and from the railroad station.

The council I am sure wishes to encourage this industry in every possible way. I know of no better way to do this than to make the approach to the plant as easy and convenient as you can. I therefore ask you to make such sums available as in your judgment may be proper to put this street in good condition.

HARRY B. YBATEON, Mayor.

Councilman Hett introduced a resolution to transfer the sum of $600 from the discount of taxes to be used by the highway department for the putting of Cutts street in repair. On motion of Councilman Dowdell the resolution was passed.

A report from the Board of Public Works stated that the additional work requested for extension of sewers on New Castle avenue and Middle street would cost $500 and $100 respectively. On motion of Councilman Smart the report was accepted and placed on file. The Board of Public Works presented a petition asking for a transfer of $350 to the sewer fund for the carrying on of the department. On motion of Councilman Northwick the petition was referred and placed on file.

A petition from Willard Gray and others was presented, asking for the placing of a light at the corner of Franklin and Court streets. On motion of Councilman Smart the petition was referred to the committee on street lighting with power.

Councilman Smart said that after an investigation he had learned that the New Castle avenue was completed and presented a resolution to transfer the sum of $600 from the unexpended funds and an additional $300 from the contingent fund, making $900 as requested by the Board of Public Works to the last council meeting for the carrying out of street repair work. On motion of Councilman Berry the resolution was passed.

Bills to the amount of $162.84, approved by the auditor were ordered to be paid on motion of Councilman Hett. The meeting adjourned on motion of Councilman Hett at 8.45.

BOXING NOTES

ENGLISH LIGHT WEIGHT TO WORK IN BOSTON TUESDAY EVENING

Kid Lewis of England, the fighting marvel of the lightweight division, and Jimmy Duffy of Buffalo, one of the classiest men in the ranks, are scheduled to entertain the members of the Atlas A. A. next Tuesday night at the Boston Arena. Lewis' skill and speed are known to all. He has defeated the stars of many boxers and made them see stars while he was doing it. The wonder of the ring has been winning with surprising ease at the Atlas A. A. and he is sanguine that he will keep it up to the end of the season.

What Duffy will do with him is largely a matter of conjecture. The Boston City fighter never has been seen in a hub ring, consequently the fans will have to scan his pedigree to get a line on him. In his recent contests with Willie Beecher, Frankie McLean and Indian Jim Coffey he has exhibited old time form and in view of this, it is believed he will prove a formidable opponent for the English boxer.

Duffy isn't familiar with the twelve round route. But he believes he can make it without trouble. He claims the injury sustained in an automobile accident did not impair his physical condition in any way and he is as good as he ever was. That remains to be seen, however, for he will meet the fastest boxer in the class when he starts with Lewis.

The latter will train at Daveney's Highland Lake resort, where he has been for all his bouts at the Boston Arena. Lewis declares that is his lucky spot and he will always train there when he spars in this city.

Duffy is not expected in town before Monday. He will train at his home at Buffalo, where he says he can get better results than elsewhere. Duffy fears a change, for he claims that the water of other cities bothers him.

In the semi-final Walter Butler of Rovers will hook up with Tommy McFarland. They will go over the eight round journey. Butler and McFarland are both in good trim and each is confident of winning.

Two good preliminaries have been fixed up for the occasion. Joe Sausa of Cambridge and Kid Lee of Chelsea will team in one preliminary and Teddy Murphy and Sammy Stern will pair in the other.

OBITUARY

James S. Pray
James S. Pray, aged about 65 years who was employed in the freight chain department of the Erie railroad for 20 years, died of heart trouble at his home in East Plainfield on Thursday. He was born in this city. He leaves a wife, son, two daughters, two brothers and a sister.

The Colonial Theatre has made a big hit with the new arrivals in the city and the capacity houses every day indicates that the good show being presented is appreciated.

BEST LIVER AND BOWEL LAXATIVE FOR FAMILY USE

"Cascarets" regulate women, men and children without injury.

Take when bilious, headachy, for colds; bad breath, sour stomach.

Instead of nasty, harsh pills, salts, castor oil or dangerous cathartics, why don't you keep Cascarets handy in your home? Cascarets act on the liver and thirty feet of bowels so gently you don't realize you have taken a cathartic, but they act thoroughly and can be depended upon when a good liver and bowel cleansing is necessary—they move the bile and poison from the bowels without griping and sweeten the stomach. You eat one or two at night like candy and you wake up feeling fine, the headache, biliousness, bad breath, coated tongue, sour stomach, constipation, or bad cold disappears. Mothers should give cross, sick, feverish or bilious children a whole Cascarets any time—they are harmless and safe for the little folks.

R. R. THIEVE BUSY.

On Wednesday night the railroad stations at Durham and Madbury were broken into. The burglars at Durham broke the glass in the window near the catch and then pushed the window down from the top. They broke off the combination of the safe in the office but were unable to get into it. They did not molest any tickets. The only thing missing from the Durham station was an old sweater.

At Madbury the entrance was gained in a similar manner. They ransacked the office but did not molest the tickets. There is no safe in the Madbury station. A freight car also broken into Wednesday evening and a case of shoes containing 72 pairs, was stolen. Before the loss was discovered however, some of the employees of the Kidder Dress Company works noticed that a pile of planks had been moved around in a peculiar manner and upon investigation found a case of shoes under the planks. They notified the police and Const. Marshall Crowley investigated the case and found that only one pair out of 72 had been taken.

After the company investigated the matter they found that the case of shoes had been taken from a box car which contained two cases of shoes which were made by a Wolfboro concern and were being shipped to a merchant in Haverhill, Mass.

It appears that the box car had contained a lot of other goods which had been transferred at this station, either to the freight house or to other cars.

EPISCOPALIANS ADOPT PLAN FOR PENSIONS

The annual diocesan convention of the Episcopal church of New Hampshire came to a close Thursday afternoon at Claremont after a two days' session filled with gatherings of interest and worth.

Perhaps the most important action taken at the business session was the voting to adopt the clergy pension fund. This is a plan to aid retired rectors and is in reality the applying of business principles of life insurance to the pensioning rules of the church.

The New Hampshire diocese is one of perhaps forty in the country that has so far approved of the plan.

The meetings were held with Trinity church of Claremont, Rev. William B. Patterson, rector. The members of the parish proved excellent entertainers, the Women's Guild being especially active in considering the comforts of the guests.

Principal among the addresses of the convention were those given by Rev. F. A. Piotrowsky of the Russian Orthodox church, Berlin, and Rev. Constantine Harmanas, pastor of St. George's Greek Orthodox church of Manchester. Both addresses were of especial interest, being given through the medium of interpreters. Christos, 12-year old son of Father Harmanas of Manchester interpreted his father's remarks. Miss Mary Harriman, matron of the Orphan's Home at Concord, also held the attention of her audience, telling of her work and needs of the home for homeless ones.

Rev. Edward M. Parker of Concord, bishop of New Hampshire, presided at the business sessions that occupied the greater part of the two days' gathering. Besides routine business the following officers were elected and committees appointed:

Secretary, Rev. Fred S. Beattie, Charlestown; treasurer, Henry W. Stevens, Concord; deputies to general convention at St. Louis in 1916, Rev. W. Patterson, Hanover; Rev. William B. Patterson, Claremont; Rev. Samuel S. Drury, Concord; W. R. Burleigh, Manchester; E. C. Niles, Concord; Robert J. Peaslee, Manchester; Robert B. Wolfe, Berlin.

Standing committee, Rev. Lucius Waterman, Hanover; Rev. W. Stanley Emery, Concord; Rev. W. S. Drury, Concord; Robert J. Peaslee, Manchester; Edward C. Niles, Concord; Edward C. Woodworth, Concord.

Board of managers for diocesan missions—Rev. W. P. Niles, Rev. W. E. Patterson, James C. Flanders, Rochester; Robert J. Peaslee, Harry W. H. Dudley and W. R. Burleigh.

A new committee of five laymen was authorized to be appointed by the bishop and to have charge of raising of appropriations for general and diocesan missions.

PURCHASE PLAN AGAIN URGED BY ADMINISTRATION

NEW SHIP BILL DRAFTED BY SECRETARY McADOO WILL INVOLVE EXPENDITURE OF $50,000,000.

Washington, Nov. 18.—A tentative draft of the new Government ship purchase bill which will be urged by the Administration at the coming session of Congress was considered yesterday at a conference at the Treasury Department. Secretary Redfield and Solicitor General McAdoo studied the proposed measure with Secretary McAdoo. The draft follows the lines suggested by Secretary McAdoo in a recent speech outlining the purposes of the Administration as to naval auxiliaries and the upbuilding of the American merchant marine. Before the measure is put in final form to be presented to Congress, it will be laid before President Wilson for his approval.

The plan described by Mr. McAdoo in his speech contemplated the expenditure of $50,000,000 by a Government shipping board consisting of the Secretary of the Navy and Secretary of Commerce and three other members to be named by the President. The board would be empowered to organize a corporation, to subscribe to its capital stock, and to vote the stock purchased in elections for directors. Through this corporation the board would maintain shipping lines, operating or leasing them to private concerns. Secretary McAdoo also suggested that the board be given authority to reform shipping rules and regulations, study shipping problems and make recommendations to Congress looking to the establishment of a strong merchant marine.

Secretary Redfield has notified Collector of Customs that vessels must not be detained in port on complaints charging noncompliance with the language test and able seamen requirements of the new Seamen's law unless such complaints are filed at least six hours before the sailing time of the vessel. This order followed the recent detention of the steamship Nongola at San Francisco after she had cleared and left her dock.

POULTRY PACKERS CAUTIONED

Specialists Recommend Method of Handling Poultry Under Adverse Weather Conditions

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—Poultry packers are urged by the specialists of the department to give unusual attention to repacking and packing their birds for shipment, particularly if the mild weather which has been particularly prevalent this autumn continues. The poultry specialists say that the weather conditions in many sections have been very similar to those which prevailed in the autumn of 1913, and which as poultry shippers will remember, proved disastrous to all packers who did not dress, chill, and pack properly.

The specialists therefore recommend the particular observance of the following methods of handling dressed poultry which are essential to a perfect product at any time and are of vital importance whenever weather conditions are favorable:

1. Keep the holding batteries for your incoming stock clean, well aired, and free from vermin, and see that the chickens have plenty of fresh water and plenty to eat.

2. Don't kill a chicken when the crop is full of feed. Give the chicken only water for 24 hours when it is killed. Food in the crop or in the intestines of a dressed chicken causes loss of flavor and hastens decay, which more than offsets any gain from extra weight.

3. Hang the chicken by both feet while picking. Hanging by one leg spoils the shape of the bird. Picking on the top gets the skin dirty and hastens decay.

4. Dry pick if possible. Scalding is particularly undesirable because it hastens decay.

5. Chill every dressed bird until the body temperature is below 35 degrees F. Never pack or ship an imperfectly chilled bird. More decay is due to imperfect chilling than to any other single factor in dressing. Dry chill, if possible.

6. Chickens dressed in water lose flavor, decay sooner and will not hold store as satisfactorily as dry-chilled, and are in every way undesirable on the market.

7. Pack in boxes or small kegs whenever possible. A large barrel makes an undesirable package, because the weight of the upper layers crushes the bird at the bottom.

8. Line all packages with parchment paper and cover the top of the poultry before the lid is put on.

9. Wrap every head in suitable paper so that blood from one bird will not mar the appearance of another.

10. Use only good refrigerator cars and see that they are in good repair. Ice and salt the car 24 hours before loading. The car at the end of 24 hours should show a temperature below forty degrees F. at a point four feet above the floor and between the doors.

Never handle chickens roughly, before or after killing. Rough handling causes bruises, broken bones, scalded skins, and soft places in the flesh. Undue haste on the part of the killers and pickers results in lowered keeping quality and poor appearance of the product.

Piece work which leads to quantity rather than quality makes for lower prices on the market. Those who pay by the piece should remember that they sell by the quality of the piece.

These directions will apply with the same force to turkeys intended for the holiday market.

WILMINGTON CITY OFFICIALS TO BE TRIED

There is great interest throughout North Carolina and in other states in the November term of the Hanover County superior court for the trial of criminal cases which has just convened with Judge F. A. Daniels of Goldsboro, brother of Secretary of the Navy, presiding, because of the scheduled trial of Mayor Parker Quince Moore and other city officials and a former city official, on charges of violating the election laws through the purchase of votes or otherwise illegally influencing voters.

Besides Mayor Moore the defendants are Councilmen W. P. Bradshaw, in charge of the streets and wharves department, W. P. Jones in charge of the water and sewerage department, but for two years prior to his present term, in charge of the police department; Louis M. Hunting in charge of the fire department; former Councilman D. N. Chadwick Jr. who had charge of the department of accounts and finances for two years expiring May first last; and Superintendent of Streets J. J. Purlong who was for a number of years, recorder, presiding over the county court.

Judge F. A. Daniels of Goldsboro is presiding over this term of court. The last terms were presided over by Judge George Rountree, but when a wholesale use of money in the purchase of influencing voters in recent elections in the city.

In addition to the six defendants awaiting trial at this time there are 23 presentments made by the last grand jury which are to be investigated at this term. It is reported that a great many of these may be in connection with alleged election frauds.

Indictments against Mayor Moore, Councilmen Bradshaw and Bradshaw charge practically the same, the unlawful use of money or other things of value to influence voters. There are two cases against former Councilman Chadwick, one named as the above and the other charging that he offered to pay a sum of money to Councilman James M. Hall, his opponent to withdraw from the race. Councilman Hall was elected.

CAPTURE GERMAN PAROLE BREAKER IN GREAT BRITAIN

London, Nov. 18.—A naval lieutenant from the German converted cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich, who broke his parole at Newport News, Va., is now in the hands of the British naval authorities according to information gleaned here today.

Two separate flights of interned men from the German converted cruisers Kronprinz Wilhelm and Prinz Eitel Friedrich, at Newport News, have been recorded in the news of the past few months. On the first occasion two German officers disappeared in a launch, the Eolipse, which they had purchased for pleasure excursions, but use of which had been forbidden by the U. S. authorities. Several reports came of the boat being sighted, and then it dropped out of sight. Presumably, the officer captured was one of those, who fled in this boat, as the second escape recently made, was of two sailors.

The officers who fled were Lieut. Koch and Dr. Kroneck.

Capt. Thierchens, commander of the Prinz Eitel Friedrich, when he learned of the disappearance of the men from his vessel expressed his regrets to Rear Admiral Beatty, commandant at the Norfolk navy yard.

The converted cruiser arrived at Newport News March 10, after an adventurous cruise in which she destroyed many merchant vessels sailing under the flags of the entente powers. At the time the vessel was interned on April 7, the officers of the cruiser gave their parole to the United States authorities, agreeing not to leave American soil.

PEOPLE OF HAYTI GRATEFUL TO U. S.

New York, Nov. 18.—The people of Hayti are grateful to the United States for the aid rendered in settling the revolution, and the efforts now being made firmly to establish the new government, according to Clement, Caplan and Marcel d'Artiguenave, sons of Sudre d'Artiguenave, the new president of Hayti, who landed here today from the steamship Prins Frederik Hendrik.

Clement d'Artiguenave said that although scattering bands of natives cause occasional disturbances, general conditions in Hayti are now peaceful, and rapid progress is being made toward a restoration of normal conditions.

D'Artiguenave is going to Paris to become secretary of the Haytian consulate there, while his two brothers are going to Philadelphia to enter a technical school.

DREADNAUGHTS' NOT YET NAMED

Washington, Nov. 18.—The names of the new battleships 43 and 44, the bids for which were opened yesterday, have not been decided as yet. These vessels will represent the latest idea in the development of the superdreadnaught. Not only will they be the biggest fighting ships afloat but they will also be the most carefully prepared to cope with the latest inventions in naval warfare. They will be armored in accordance with the latest ideas regarding distribution of thickness.

The visiting newspapermen from Boston were the guests of the Portsmouth Yacht Club last evening.

FORTY CITIES PLAN DEFENSE

New York, Nov. 18.—Mayors of about forty cities from Maine to California have followed the example of Mayor Mitchell of this city and have appointed committees to cooperate in national defense preparation. The cities whose executives have taken such action are: Los Angeles, San Francisco, New Haven, Waterbury, Conn.; Jacksonville, Waukegan, Ill.; Lafayette, Ind.; New Orleans, Portland, Me.; Boston, Battle Creek, Duluth, Vicksburg, St. Joseph, Mo.; Atlantic City, Jersey City, Newark, Buffalo, Syracuse, Charlotte, N. C.; Wilmington, N. C.; Oklahoma City, Meadville, Pa.; Nashville, Philadelphia, Palestine, Tex.; Huntington, W. Va.; Wheeling, W. Va.; Ashland, Beloit, Janesville, Madison, Racine and Oshkosh, Wis.; Cheyenne, Wyo.; Reading, Pa.; Beverly, Mass.; Trenton, Passaic, and Summit, N. J.

PASTOR ACCUSED BY WOMAN HAD BEEN NAMED FOR LEGISLATURE

Auburn, Me., Nov. 18.—A letter has been sent by the Rev. Milton Beckwith to Congressman John A. Peters of Ellsworth, asking him to act as his counsel; Miss Elizabeth E. Vosnus, the Rev. Beckwith's fiancee, has left her home in North Pownal; the stewards of the Methodist Church in that town have met and it is understood the Beckwith case, and Beckwith has received notice from his town of Ellsworth that he received the nomination for representative in his district.

These are the latest developments in the case of the Rev. Beckwith, which has caused a sensation throughout the state. He was arrested last Saturday on serious charges preferred by Mrs. Maude Godding, a divorcee of about a month, and spent one night in a lockup before $500 bail was secured.

Mrs. Godding asserts her attorneys, McMillen & Morey, of Lewiston hold a statement signed by the minister in which he admits his responsibility in connection with her charges as to their relations.

It was learned today Mr. Beckwith and Miss Vosnus, who is the daughter of a North Pownal physician, were to have been married on Christmas day. This is now believed to be out of the question, although Miss Vosnus is standing staunchly by her fiance and has refused to be released from her engagement to him. Her parents say she has gone to Springfield, Me., not far from Portland, but will not divulge the reason for her flight.

The Rev. D. B. Holt, district superintendent of the Methodist Church Association, attended the meeting last night of the stewards of the North Pownal church, at which Mr. Beckwith holds a pastorate in addition to that at the local church. So far as could be learned from those who attended the conference, the Beckwith matter was not touched, but it is generally believed because of the presence of the superintendent that the matter of Beckwith's resignation, submitted after his arrest, was considered.

FINDS BIG POTASH SOURCE IN TAILINGS AT COPPER MINES

Washington, Nov. 18.—A possible source of potash, heretofore supplied almost exclusively by Germany, is suggested today by Director George Otis Smith of the geological survey in a statement pointing out that the tailings piled up at the concentrating mills of the big copper mines in the west contain several times as much potash as copper. This potash, however, is locked up in the form of silicate minerals.

The commercial extraction of potash from silicates has been for several years the subject of study by industrial chemists, and if the problem can be solved it would appear that a large tonnage of potash-bearing material is available in the western states.

SPORTS SATURDAY AND MONDAY

Sport lovers will be given a chance to get a little action this week and the first of next week. Saturday afternoon Portsmouth high school meets Concord high for the state championship in foot ball. The game means a great deal to the home team and they have been working hard all the week.

On Monday evening the Rockingham A. A. will present a good boxing card at Freeman's hall. Jim Savage of the U. S. S. Nebraska will work and Young Sims, formerly of the Southey and now stationed at Philadelphia, will each meet boys from ships stationed here.

Don't forget that the Portsmouth high school boys are going to fight for the state football championship on the playgrounds this Saturday.
